

2015 FALL ORGAN CONFERENCE/ INDIANA ORGANISTS UNITED REUNION

September 13-16, 2015

Hosted by the Indiana University Jacobs School of Music Incorporating the Biennial Reunion of Indiana Organists United

WHAT, IN GOD'S NAME, ARE YOU DOING? AN ECUMENICAL CONFERENCE EXPLORING VOCATION IN WORSHIP AND THE ARTS

We are truly honored to welcome The Rev'd Barbara Brown Taylor as our Keynote Speaker. Named by Time Magazine as one of the 100 most influential persons in the world, her unique insights have inspired countless readers to re-assess the role of spirituality in personal and communal life.

Conference Events At-A-Glance

Sunday, September 13

Ordo Virutum

Performed by the Historical Performance Institute of the Jacobs School of Music, Dana Marsh, Director

Opening Concert

8 pm

Hildegard von Bingen

Monday, September 14

Morning presentations by The Rev. Barbara Brown Taylor, afternoon sessions on the present and future of sacred music, Sacred Sound film screening, concluding evening Hymn Festival featuring Jacobs School of Music students under the direction of NCOI Winner and Visiting Lecturer Robert Nicholls.

Tuesday, September 15

Presentations and recitals by 2015 Oswald Ragatz Distinguished Alumni Award winners James Mellichamp, Carla Edwards, Yun Kim and Yoon-Mi Limm, masterclasses on vocal pedagogy for the church organist and new service music, evensong with conference choir led by Marilyn Keiser, banquet and gala recital.

Wednesday, September 16

Alumni Panel discussion and open consoles on C.B. Fisk Opus 91 and 135.

Registration: $150 for single attendee; $120 for two or more from the same institution

Full details can be found at music.indiana.edu/organ-conference.