

Indiana Arts & Culture Capacity Assessment

To better serve the public, the Indiana Arts Commission (IAC) is working in partnership with the School of Public and Environmental Affairs (SPEA) at Indiana University to assess the capacity building and technical assistance challenges facing arts and culture providers in our state. As one of Indiana's important arts and culture organizations, we ask for your help by completing this survey.

Your participation will aid the IAC in developing a framework of appropriate grants-making strategies going into the future. You and other Indiana arts and culture providers will benefit from this project by ensuring the IAC and Indiana policy makers have solid, up-to-date information about the capacity building challenges Indiana nonprofits and government agencies face and key strategies for addressing these challenges.

All responses to this survey will be kept in strictest confidence. SPEA has sole responsibility for the survey and in no case will anyone at the Indiana Arts Commission (or at any other organization) have access to the responses or raw data. Survey respondents will not be identified by name. Responses will be reported in aggregate only, so no one will be able to identify the answers from a particular organization. This survey will be coordinated by Dr. Kirsten Grønbjerg, who has extensive experience in researching Indiana nonprofits.

Please be prepared to answer questions about your organization's capacity building and technical assistance challenges. However, because we are interested in how these differ among types of organizations, we also ask questions about such general topics as financial indicators, staff size, and major activities. Most respondents should be able to complete this survey in about 20-25 minutes.

Your timely response to the survey is greatly appreciated. Your participation and thoroughness are very important to us and will greatly assist in successfully addressing the needs of Indiana nonprofit and public arts and culture providers.

Thank you in advance for assisting us in better serving you and the residents of Indiana.

Sincerely,
